

Family Law

When Everything Matters.

Wise counsel, strong representation and an understanding of the emotional and family impacts are critical to an effective and successful attorney-client relationship in the area of family law. Family law issues have grown in complexity and scope, but Montgomery, Goff & Bullis believe careful analysis and well-structured proposals can often lead to successful outcomes through negotiated settlements. Success in North Dakota court trials has been attained at all levels, including the Supreme Court. Our team offers legal counsel experienced in the most difficult matters, including complex property and business divisions and custody cases. Give us a call today to discuss your needs.
